What do you see, observe or notice?
Children are happy because they have toys

How does this issue fit with your life and the world?
We are children and human too. and if we don't

What questions or puzzles do you have?
Why does the toys looks old and ~~broken~~ badly handmade?

1. Outside skin
4. Making connections

2. Under the skin

5. Different viewpoints

3. Building explanations
6. Capturing the heart

What is this really about?

Children Refuges needs toys to be happy. plus the toy needs to be a good and new one.

What is the central idea or message?

Refugee children need help and we should help them by giving them toys to make them avoid mental health problems.

How could we see this issue from another perspective?

They are happy since they at least have toys (but badly handmade). Because refugees are poor and need help
